THE BIG FOUR

FANSET CONCENTRATES ON DYEING, CLEANING, REPAIRING AND PRESSING

Dyeing, cleaning, repairing, tailoring! There is a combination for enterprise. Usually one finds one thing enough, but that isn't the idea of J. H. Fanset, at 1108 Broadway. With him, the more the merrier, and results would appear to be his justification. Fanset has discovered the secret of how to give your undivided attention to four separate and distinct enterprises—and win. Of course, there is a certain relation among the four, and to conduct all of them successfully means a four-times efficiency.

Concentration then on one thing hasn't the argument entirely in its favor. It is sometimes only a question of capacity, and this would seem to be a case in point.

Then again, much depends upon how much of yourself you put into your work. Fanset is all for his four-armed enterprise. And you couldn't get him to change for any consideration. To him, dyeing, cleaning, repairing, tailoring, constitute the Big Four, so big they completely fill his vision. That fact accounts for a good deal, if not for everything. More-over his vision is always working, and it is gradually taking on tangible form. In the three years he has been in Glendale, he has succeeded with a part of his vision, though small indeed compared with what he hopes to be able to accomplish.

But you gather little from Fanset himself. He believes in golden silence, or maybe he was born that way. It is his enterprise and what he has done with it that does the talking, and it talks remarkably well for the man behind it.

There is no telling where Fanset will be a few years from now. He might be in Congress, though that isn't likely; besides, if he should by some miracle land there, you couldn't get him to talk or think about anything but dyeing, cleaning, repairing, tailoring.

1800 MILE AUTO TRIP

H. E. Betz, wife and son Harold left Glendale August 6th and arrived home August 27th, having traveled 1800 miles by auto, going up the Coast route, visiting Pismo Beach, Pacific Grove, Santa Cruz beach and the big trees. Thence to Sacramento. They visited two brothers at Sacramento and spent 8 days fishing on the American river and Silver Creek east of Sacramento 80 to 100 miles. On the return trip they stopped at Modesto, Merced, Visalia, and Porterville, also took a trip to the Sequoia National Park at 6400 feet elevation. They measured a tree 102 feet in circumference. Mr. Betz says: "I highly recommend Sequoia National Park for a place to rest. The large trees are numerous, about 11,000 scattered in this great park, all at this high elevation. The road leaving the valley into the park is not very good, being about 20 miles of mostly low gear work. Left Porterville at noon Monday, arriving home at 10 p. m. over the Ridge route. All enjoyed the trip, with no machine trouble."

REAL ESTATE CHANGES

W. R. Ireland, of Los Angeles, has exchanged 10 acres at Fontana, near San Bernardino, valued at $1,500, for a house and lot on Ruth avenue in Casa Verdugo, the house being five rooms and modern, valued at $3000, and belonged to Mrs. Emma Howard of Corona.

A house at 1328 Dryden street, Glendale, valued at $3750 and owned by W. M. Mabery, of Montrose, Col., has been exchanged for two houses and three acres in Burbank, the three acres being in fruit and valued at $6000, which belonged to Clarence E. Boss, the Tropic grocer.

These deals were put through by H. L. Miller of 409 Brand boulevard. Mr. Miller also reports having transferred $300,000 of insurance from several companies to one, on account of the former having more than doubled their rates.

JUVENILE MARKET CLOSES

The weekly juvenile market will not be held again this summer, owing to a lack of young merchants. The much talked of "surplus" in the way of home-grown vegetables does not seem to exist in Glendale, for during five weeks only children of three families have brought produce to sell. And these children have now sold all their garden stock.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Westerly winds.

DISCUSS ANNEXATION

JUDGE TAFT ADDRESSED MEETING OF TROPICO CITIZENS MONDAY EVENING

Citizens of Tropic held an anti-annexation meeting in the K. P. hall, Tropic, Monday evening, August 27. W. J. Hibbert presided at the meeting. By request, F. Booth led the audience in singing America. Judge Taft of Santa Monica, who took such an active part against the annexation of Santa Monica to Los Angeles recently, was present and spoke for half an hour on the subject of the disadvantages of a smaller city annexing to Los Angeles. He warned those present to give the question of annexation serious consideration. He said: "When you once have been annexed to Los Angeles, you must always be a part of that city, no matter how much you might wish to again be a separate municipality." "In becoming a part of Los Angeles you have nothing to gain and much to lose. Upon annexing to Los Angeles you will be required to assume all the bonded indebtedness of that city and at the same time be required to pay your own indebtedness and all other expenses of carrying on your community affairs." He said, "We who have inquired into the situation know it to be a truth that Los Angeles annexation commissions are working desperately to get additional territory into their city that the bonding capacity of the city may be increased. The argument they are giving you that the time is near when the utility bonds will be self-supporting is only a pipe dream, as present conditions show that if all the aqueduct water could be sold at regular rates it would not produce a sufficient surplus over running expenses to pay more than the interest on the bonded indebtedness. Good judgment on our part proves to us that these claims are merely offered as inducements to cause the voters to favor annexation." Judge Taft said that so far as the tax rate in Los Angeles and the tax rate in Tropic are concerned it is impossible to make fair comparisons. He illustrated this by saying that there is a property owner who owns an apartment house on Figueroa street, Los Angeles, and he also owns one on a boulevard in Santa Monica. The general city tax rates on the two properties are about the same, but on the Figueroa property he has an assessment for lighting purposes of $1 per front foot per year and on the Santa Monica property, which is lighted very similarly, the lighting expense is paid by the city. So it is in so many instances, property owners in Los Angeles pay taxes by special assessments and thus the general tax rate seems to be kept down. The speaker referred to Hollywood as having been a community hounded with special assessments ever since being annexed to Los Angeles. Some of the wash channels that have been expressly for the benefit of Los Angeles city proper are maintained at the expense of Hollywood property owners by the special assessment plan. The speaker said San Pedro since being annexed eight years ago had been entirely ignored by Los Angeles so far as allowing the community to be represented on the council or the commissions until only recently a commission appointment was given to a San Pedro man. The policemen, the police justices and all officers actually required in San Pedro are sent down from Los Angeles. He said so far as Los Angeles bringing prosperity to annexed territory, no importance should be placed upon that statement for it is impossible for Los Angeles to bring to annexed territory that which she does not have herself. "A few days ago for my own satisfaction I counted 229 empty store buildings in the heart of the city of Los Angeles. With these conditions true in Los Angeles, what is the need of annexationists promising Tropic and Santa Monica that vacant store buildings will be filled after annexation?" asked Judge Taft. In concluding, the speaker reminded those present that wherever community government exists it should be fostered and its abandonment should be only after serious consideration because the town meeting plan introduced by the early settlers has been the basis of democracy in this country.

The audience gave considerable weight to Judge Taft's remarks from the fact that he was the leader in the Santa Monica anti-annexation campaign which at the election last week gave such a large majority against annexation.

The next speaker was S. W. Shaull, who is a recent comer to Tropic. He said he had moved to Tropic for the purpose of getting away from a large city and now since he has gotten (Continued on Page 4)

The Red Cross is about to open headquarters at 318 Brand boulevard and gratifying courtesies have been extended to the Society by Glendale people. The headquarters have been given rent free; Ezra Parker will supply counters, chairs and tables; Bentley-Schoeneman Lumber Company will provide lumber for special sewing tables, while Chas. W. Kent & Son will furnish tables.

All the work of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter will be centered in these headquarters in the future.

It is hoped that telephones will be installed in a day or two.

If any parties have sewing machines, and are not using them, and would care to lend them to the Red Cross Society, it would be greatly appreciated. They can either deliver them or notify T. F. McCrea, vice-president of the Red Cross, telephone Glendale 1041-J.

Several hundred ladies in Glendale are now actively engaged in knitting and sewing for the various committees. Those who are willing to volunteer can call at headquarters any time after Thursday. For the present headquarters will be open every afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock, except Saturday and Sunday.

NOT THAT KIND

When Mark Twain was wrecked on a French coast he, as he thought, easily parleyvouxed in irreproachable French. But results were so slow that he finally disgustedly exclaimed: "Why, these French people can't understand their own language!"

But "Mark Twain French" is not the kind you will learn if you attend the free classes in real, up-to-date French, to be taught by Mrs. Nanno Woods at the Chamber of Commerce Thursday evenings, beginning August 30th, this week.

It is a splendid idea, and a truly unselfish and patriotic work, for her to undertake to teach the language of America's oldest and truest friend among European nations. It is better still to know that the teacher is "English." Closer and closer the allied nations are drawing together and, strange as it may seem, this great world war may really hasten the long-hoped-for world brotherhood. So mote it be.

The object of Mrs. Woods is to teach at least enough French to our soldier boys who are going to Europe, to enable them to get along easier among Europeans, so many of whom speak French regardless of nationality. Those who take advantage of her instruction and learn to pronounce, can easier prosecute the study alone, or boys in the same mess could keep up the study. If located in France, it will be a comfort to read French newspapers and books. Then think what a help that would be to those of our soldiers who may visit Paris.

The first lecture, Thursday evening this week, will be open for the soldiers, their friends and the public generally.

PAST COMMANDER NIGHT

Commander C. L. V. Moore, of Glendale Commandery, No. 53, Knights Templar, is to have a Past-Commander night here September 19, when Past Commanders of the Valley and Los Angeles will confer the illustrious order of the Temple, to which all Sir Knights in the Valley are invited.

The assignment of officers to their respective posts will be given later.

The Glendale Commandery is flourishing and has several candidates to receive degrees.

LIBRARY NOTES

Between sixty and seventy children gathered at the library Tuesday morning at the story hour to listen to Miss Alice Frank while she related two delightful tales in her most interesting way. The first story was the well-known but ever-new "Hansel and Gretel" by Grimm, and a Servian fairy tale, "The Wonderful Hair," by W. S. Karlich.

Monday, September 3, being a legal holiday, the public library will be closed all day.

FLOOD CONTROL BONDS

SUPERVISORS MAY HAVE TO LEVY TAX FOR EMERGENCY FLOOD CONTROL

The Supreme Court of California has not yet passed upon the validity of the flood control bond issue of $4,450,000, approved by the people last winter. It is hoped that a decision will be rendered before Tuesday, September 4th, when the tax levy for the fiscal year 1917-18 must be made and when provision must be made for a levy to pay the interest and principal of the bonds if they are to be sold under the existing ordinance of issue.

Chairman Hamilton of the Board of Supervisors has been advised by the county counsel that even if the Supreme Court decision is not made before September 4th it will probably be possible to adopt a new ordinance of issue and sell the bonds later in order to inaugurate the work.

The long delay in the courts is regretted because even if the Supreme Court decision is favorable it will take several weeks to advertise and sell the bonds and organize forces to start the work. In the event that no decision is received before September 4th, Chairman Hamilton will ask the Board to levy a tax of 1c on the $100 for emergency flood control work during the year.

DINNER RECALLS HIKING TRIP

A little dinner, unique in all its appointments, was given by Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goss on Thursday evening at their home, 714 West Fifth street. The autumn motif was displayed in a most beautiful arrangement of purple asters and golden coreopsis, which adorned the dinner table. Tiny brown tents marked the places of the invited guests, who were all members of a most enjoyable "hiking" party which celebrated Labor Day last year in this form of outing. Indeed, so successful was that trip that the party are planning a similar celebration for the coming holiday, and this little dinner, while largely reminiscent of former delights, also gave opportunity to discuss plans for the coming outing. The hosts and guests are planning to spend the week-end at Camp Baldy and the hike will be from the end of the car line to the camp. Whether the hikers will see the top of Old Baldy is "another story" as Kipling would say.

The members of the hiking party are Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Case and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ellis. Following the dinner the evening was spent in unison singing of the old songs.

"P. P. C."

No, that does not in this instance stand for "pre-parting calls"—though it may ultimately lead to many of them. Here it means merely "Popular Patriotic Concerts" which are being promoted by the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, pro bono publico—without money and without price.

In what way they are "priceless" you—everybody—may learn by attending the first P. P. C. next Saturday evening, at the City band stand, corner Broadway and Louise street, by the Glendale News building.

Oh, yes, there will be a good piano, kindly provided by the Glendale Music Company, who will also arrange that first program of a series which will both please and profit Glendale.

It is believed that there is fine vocal and instrumental talent in and near Glendale which should make itself known to the public, for mutual benefit.

To this end it is expected that one or more such amateurs will appear at each P. P. C.—and who can say that some new Chapman, Caruso, Patti, or even another Little Mary Pickford may not be one of the coming events foreshadowed.

Musical teachers and mothers with unknown talented artists in their charge, please take notice.

Any kind of proper popular patriotic stunt will be welcomed, though the main idea is to reawaken patriotism by simple, well-known popular patriotic songs, led by some good singer, and chorused by the whole crowd. Those who can't sing may shout—as nearly in tune and time as possible.

The way to arouse patriotism is to express it in your own way. Everybody come Saturday evening and lend a voice "for Country, Home and God."

The hour of World-Freedom has struck! "Do your bit." Sing it!

GLENDALE, CALIFORNIA, TUESDAY, AUGUST 28, 1917

NON-ANNEXATION PREFERABLE

Tropico, at its election to-morrow, will decide the question, to be or not to be a part of Los Angeles. A week ago Santa Monica gave its decision, and it was a negative. There appears to be little desire, on the part of suburban municipalities to lose their identity in the big city. For several years Los Angeles has been adding from time to time to its territory until now it is one of the largest cities in the world in superficial area, but aside from merely extending its borrowing power it has brought small advantage to Los Angeles, and so far as the annexed territory is concerned the benefits have been negligible indeed. On the contrary, in place of being a benefit it has operated to the disadvantage of the absorbed community. It is, however, what must be expected.

What motive has Los Angeles in annexing communities? Primarily to confer benefits, to give the people a part in the constructive enterprise of the city, in its progress, to make them feel as one in the whole community? Certainly not. Los Angeles has no more interest in those of the annexed territory than it would have in a stranger with whom it has had a business transaction. The stranger is merely incidental to the transaction, and when it is completed he is forgotten—and frequently the transaction as well. That is how it works out in annexing territory. It is simply a transaction, but in which Los Angeles is the sole beneficiary. The motive then is purely selfish and one-sided, to make another increase to the city's borrowing power and to enable it to make another addition to its bonded indebtedness. That is the whole explanation of the desire to annex territory; that and nothing more.

As an inducement to join hands with Los Angeles, the community proposed to be annexed is given a set of promises that are more or less attractive; but experience has shown that the promises are rarely fulfilled, and never more than only partially, and after much delay—and always at the cost of those who have been annexed. One of the promises made is the use of the Owens River water. But who wants the alkali-saturated Owens River water, especially when one already enjoys the pure, sparkling article, and in abundance? And so it is with other things. If you go into Los Angeles, you will be made to pay your proportion of its steadily increasing obligations, its bonded indebtedness, and you will be nothing more than a cipher in the life of the city. If, in the end, municipal services are extended, it is at your cost, and outlying districts are never given the attention or consideration of the city proper, so that you are under a constant disadvantage.

But it is the old story of the big fish swallowing the little one. It is the part of wisdom to avoid it. A community, however small it may be, that possesses the elements of growth, of a future, that even has an identity that is its own, best consults its interests when it retains its independence and works out its destiny. An independent community has a spirit that it fosters; it takes a pride in its growth, in its achievements; each one is a factor, but all work more or less together. Municipal enterprise, with other enterprise, marches logically with the natural need and progress of the city, and always with the consent of the greater number, and so bit by bit a well-governed city emerges, a monument to all, in which all take pride.

NATIONAL FORESTS HELPING INCREASE OF MEAT SUPPLY

As a war emergency measure the National Forest ranges are carrying this summer approximately 100,000 more cattle and 200,000 more sheep than in ordinary years, according to the grazing experts of the Forest Service. Ordinarily the National Forests furnish pasturage for about 1,800,000 cattle and horses and 7,800,000 head of sheep.

The number of livestock permitted on the Forests is limited in order to prevent damage to timber growth, water supplies, and the range itself. This year exceptional weather conditions combined with the general food situation to create an unusual emergency, calling for special provisions to take care of the stock. A severe winter and late spring exhausted the hay supply and forced use of the spring ranges before they had reached their normal state. To lessen the losses which the western livestock industry faced, the National Forest ranges were opened early. At the same time, the number of stock permitted for the present season was raised to the maximum consistent with safeguarding future productiveness.

It is fully recognized that the increases which have been made in the allowances of stock on the National Forests involve danger that the range will be depleted through overgrazing, but it is believed by the grazing experts of the Government that the emergency increases made can be taken care of, at least this year, without material sacrifice of productive capacity. The condition of the ranges is, however, being carefully watched. Reliance is placed also on the special efforts being made to secure the most intensive utilization consistent with sustained productiveness, by improved methods of handling the stock. Better salting methods and the development of new watering places are among the means employed for this purpose.

At the close of the grazing season a careful examination will be made of the range on each Forest to determine its condition and to find out how many cattle or sheep it will support next season. On areas which are found to be overgrazed, an attempt will be made to shift the surplus stock to range which can stand the strain better.

While the grazing officials do not think that the increase could be carried indefinitely without serious damage to the forage, regulated grazing has brought about a steady improvement of the range and some areas will probably be able to support the larger numbers permanently.

RAILROADS HELP WIN WAR

With an increase in equipment of only 3 per cent., the railroads of this country rendered nearly 26 per cent. more freight service in June this year than in the same month last year. These figures are contained in a report on freight operation which has just been received by the commission on car service of the Railroads' War Board.

They furnish additional proof of the vigorous and successful efforts which the railroads of this country are making to help win the war by producing greater transportation efficiency.

They also indicate that the shippers are doing their part, too, as freight traffic could not have been increased to such an extent without a prompt and intelligent response by the shippers to the request of the Railroads' War Board to load cars to full capacity.

The report on freight traffic for June was compiled by the Bureau of Railway Economics on returns from 29 railroads having a combined mileage of 125,488, or approximately half the total railroad mileage of the United States.

The magnitude of this achievement becomes more apparent when compared with the slight increase in equipment which the railroads were able to secure during the past year. In June of last year the roads in question owned 1,248,160 freight cars. June this year found them with only 1,284,644, an increase of barely 3 per cent. Moreover the number of locomotives used by them to haul freight has been increased only 1/2 of 1 per cent.

Car loading plus an increase in the number of miles a day in which the railroads have been able to make their freight cars travel is largely responsible for the excellent freight showing for June.

The distribution of empty cars, irrespective of ownership, into districts where they have been most needed has also helped to increase the railroads' efficiency in handling the abnormal amount of freight that the war has produced.

Both the railroad men and the shippers are to be congratulated on the zeal and skill with which they have carried out the requests of the Railroads' War Boards "to make one car do the work of two."

Intensive loading has increased the number of cars available to meet the demands of the Government and the shipping public by many thousands.

"GREAT ADVENTURE" SINGLE TAX MEETING

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Merrick, 1432 Milford avenue, Thursday, August 30, at 8 p. m. will be held the fifth meeting of the season in this vicinity. Although this is the off year for all state political campaigns, still this movement (polling 260,000 votes last election) grows while it may seem to be asleep. Many who were frightened into voting as the banks, great corporations and land speculators dictated, are now looking into this great problem of the age from the viewpoint of universal well-being. There are already over 40,000 signatures to the new petitions; we need some 74,000 validated names.

The speakers will be Luke North, of Los Angeles, the manager of the last campaign, and Rev. N. J. Wright of Glendale. Mrs. Vivian R. Webb will play a piano number and Miss Elizabeth Webb will sing. General discussion and a social half hour will follow. Every one cordially invited to attend.

MRS. ROBINSON.

2. Pay $4.00 for one year's subscription for the Evening News.

With all of these liberal offers there is no excuse for you to borrow your neighbor's directory.

SOME THINGS THAT ARE NEW

Clockwork within the body of a decoy duck of French invention makes it swim with its feet in a lifelike manner.

The use of springs is done away with in a new cord operated device for opening and closing transoms, windows or shutters.

Chilean investigators have found a number of deposits of petroleum in Bolivia of sufficient promise to warrant development.

Taking current from a light socket, an electrically-driven shoe-cleaning and polishing machine for home use has been invented.

An Iowa inventor's automobile seat also serves as a trunk and is so mounted that it can be lifted against the steering wheel to prevent a thief moving a car.

An American army officer has invented a hemp bag in which water for soldiers can be sterilized with hypochlorite of calcium and cooled by evaporation at the same time.

Naturalists in Argentina are trying to find out whether the wild horses of that country are descended from those imported by Spanish conquerors or of prehistoric origin.—Exchange.

SCOWL AND BE SCOWLED AT

You cannot get over the shock you had to-day when your demure little daughter turned on you defiantly and glared at you when you suggested she do a certain thing distasteful to her.

You met the situation by glaring back, didn't you?—and perhaps threatened to whip her if she were not more obedient.

Ever since then you have been wondering where she got that wicked expression in her eyes.

As you thought about it your face took on the same look, and you have just realized that is the way you often look at her when she disobeys you.

You have nagged her for days trying to correct a trivial but disagreeable failing.

You never thought of how you have looked to her as you fussed and fumed and raved and ranted at each recurrence of her disobedience.

Have you ever controlled yourself when you talked to the child on the subject?

Never let your face take on an expression that you would be ashamed to see reflected in your daughter.

Children are imitators. Control yourself.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

The Meat Question

As loyal citizens we should all, in this time of stress, do all in our power to back up the President in his efforts to conserve the food supply. He is requesting that lambs be no longer slaughtered, but allowed to grow into sheep, that the wool and meat supply may be enhanced. Therefore, after this week, we will keep no more lamb in our meat department. Pork is almost prohibitive in price, so we will have to make out mostly with beef. We keep only No. 1 beef, nice and juicy, the best that can be bought—no tough Mexican beef or old cows, such as the cheap cuts advertised in Los Angeles are taken from. Our hamburger is made from choice beef with no filler. Cheap hamburger is more than half filler and water and really dearer than the real stuff. We sell cuts from choice No. 1 steers as follows:

Round, rib, T-bone and sirloins, per lb. 25c
Finest roasts, per lb. 20c
Boiling meat, soup meat, per lb. 15c

Order some plate boiling meat or brisket soup meat and see how rich they are in nutrition.

Best head rice, macaroni and spaghetti, corn flakes, pork and beans, and many other articles at same old prices—no advance.
Lenox and Mermaid soaps, 6 for 25c
Try Mazola, the new salad and cooking oil, per can. 35c

WITHOUT MONEY CONSIDERATION

In the past ten days the Evening News has had pleasant things to say about a few of her patrons. These kind words have originated entirely in the mind of a representative of the News, and the subjects of the articles have taken no part in what has been said. There is no money consideration attached to these brief but pointed word pictures, and the man who would desire to purchase what we take a pleasure in giving free, could not do so.

YOUR BIT AND YOUR BEST

By Frank W. Luce, D. D.
The Master stood in the Temple of Old,
Where the people their offerings made;
And saw the rich in procession bold,
As their golden gifts they laid.

Modestly a widow came;
Two mites was all that she had;
She kept not one, but both she gave,
Her all to make others glad.

The Master gave as His age-long call,
Though many had cast in much,
That the widow's farthing was more than all
That had made rich grandeur such.

If to do your bit is your strongest test,
It is noble at any time;
But to do a bit that is not your best,
Is to shirk, and to shirk is a crime.

There is much grave need in this crucial time,
A great chance to make men free;
Then do your best whether little or much,

Whoever and wherever you be.

LIVINGSTONE'S HOUSE PRESERVED

Measures have been taken by the British government to preserve the remains of Dr. David Livingstone's house at Kolobeng, or Kolobeng, Bechuanaland, and the graves in its vicinity. Here Dr. Livingstone lived as a missionary among the Bechuanas before setting out upon his great journeys of exploration. With the aid of the native chief, Sechele, the ruins of the house have been fenced and protected by a shed, and the site is to be kept clear of jungle and placed under the care of the headman of a neighboring village.—Scientific American.

PROVING IT

An editor said of a certain local politician: "We will not call him an ass. We will print his speech."

Sixty per cent of the people who come to Glendale have lived in Los Angeles for either a short or long period. They are already patrons of a downtown laundry before moving here. CAVALRYMEN NOW IN TRENCHES

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES, Aug. 5 (By Mail)—American cavalry regiments now undergoing intensive cavalry training may be surprised on their arrival at the French front to find their horses relegated to the stables and themselves to the trenches.

As a matter of fact, the role of the French cavalry has been largely one of foot in the trenches. Unless the whole character of the war on the western front should change completely, it is entirely possible that American cavalry may undergo the same experience.

The change in the war that came when the Germans dug themselves in on French soil rendered it necessary for a large number of the French cavalry regiments to be dismounted and the men utilized in the foot service.

Enough of the cavalry was retained to meet any requirements that may yet come with a reversal to open warfare, but the wisdom of the change has been demonstrated by the fact that since then the French cavalry that still continues as such has only had two occasions to get into action. During the first few days of the Battle of the Somme cavalry patrols were thrown out ahead of the advancing infantry for a few days, and during the German retreat of last March the cavalry again had a busy week chasing the fleeing Germans.

But that has been all. With the whole war on a trench basis, these "cavaliers a pied" or cavalrymen afoot as they are known, took their turns in the trenches. A consistent effort was made to use them where their special qualifications and fitness would render the most service. It was quickly found that they were especially valuable for advance posts, for sentinel and watchpost service, for scouting and "couverture" work which resulted in a great number of them being used in small groups of one or two platoons.

A notable instance of where just the right kind of a "nook" was found for them was on the Yser. Where the French line runs into the North Sea at Nieuport, Marine Infantry were found to be the most adapted for the trenches there, as there was all the atmosphere of the sea and marine warfare. A little farther south however, there was a long line of advanced posts entirely detached from the rest of the line and which could only be reached by little foot bridges thrown across the canal at just 200 yards from the German sharpshooters. The dismounted cavalrymen took to this wonderfully and with their marine brethren to the north made things warm for the Germans until that part of the line was taken over a short time ago by the British.

Not a few of the dismounted cavalry regiments had the good fortune not to be broken up into separate groups this way but were organized for example into regiments of light infantry for special tasks. Regiments of this class won laurels for the "cavalry afoot" in the French offensive of May 5 when, supported by tanks they tore open about six kilometers of the hinge of the Hindenberg line at Vauxaillon.

Greater evidence of the worth of these dismounted cavalrymen as foot soldiers was demonstrated in the recent fighting about Hill 304 at Verdun. The record of the squadron of the 24th Dragons, consisting of only 40 members, that defeated the Model Battalion of the German stoss-truppen after a three hour hand to hand fight in which half of the dragons were killed, will probably remain for a long time the classic example of what French cavalrymen are doing afoot. That the turn of the American cavalry may also come is a very great possibility.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME "OLD GLORY"

James Whitcomb Riley has given in a poem an answer to the question, "How did the name 'Old Glory' originate?" The poet asks the flag who gave it the name of Old Glory, and in the last stanza narrates the answer:

"The old banner leaped, like a sail in the blast,
And fluttered an audible answer at last—

And it spake, with a shake of the voice, and it said:
'By the driven snow-white and the living blood-red
Of my bars, and their heaven of stars overhead—
By the symbol conjoined of them all, skyward cast,
As I float from the steeple, or flap at the mast,
Or droop o'er the sod where the long grasses nod—
My name is as old as the glory of God.

"So I came by the name of Old Glory."

GETTING IN ON IT

A Scotchman came upon an automobile overturned at a railway crossing. Beside it lay a man badly smashed up.

"Get a doctor," he moaned.

"Did the train hit you?" asked the Scotchman.

"Yes, yes. Get a doctor."

"Has the claim agent been here yet?"

"No, no. Please get a doctor."

"Move over, you," said the Scot, "till I lie down beside you."

DEAF MEN FOUND TO BE BEST WORKERS IN NOISY FACTORY

The war is developing new labor conditions and problems. Probably the most unique instance which has come to light is contained in a request made of the labor bureau of the Ohio branch of the national defense council by an Ohio manufacturer, says the Columbus Dispatch.

"I want from twenty to thirty deaf men. If they are deaf and dumb both, it won't make any difference." This was the request made by a big Ohio manufacturer. "I will pay them from $2.50 to $3.50 per day and give them steady work. I want to put them to work in one branch of my factory where the noise is so great that it is impossible to keep hearing men on the job. I tried a couple of deaf men and they have proved so successful that I want a score or more of them."—Selected.

HIS CHECK WAS TOO BIG

Matthew White, Jr., cashier at the Hotel Belvidere, in Baltimore, has had many requests made of him and he thought he was immune from surprise until a guest from the far West stepped up to his window and asked him if he could cash a check.

"Certainly," said Mr. White, "that's what I am here for. How will you have it, fives, tens or small change?"

"Not particular," said the guest, laying down a United States treasury check for $195,000.

When Mr. White recovered he owned up that he did not have quite that much money in his cash drawer.

"But," said Mr. White, "leave it with me, and I will send it to the subtreasury and you can call for the money in the morning."

The stranger explained that it was just a little joke. The check was good, and had been given to him in Washington in payment for three ships sold the government.—Exchange.

GOT DREI

"No, I don't speak German, but I got along pretty well in Berlin without knowing the language."

"That so?"

"Yes; for instance, one day I wanted a drink and I went into a beer garden and said to the waiter: 'Look here, old man, I'm dry. Do you understand? Dry!' And the next minute he came back with three beers."—Exchange.

SUBSEQUENT PROCEEDINGS

FOR MARTIAL WAR

An old gentleman, finding a couple of his nieces fencing the other day with broomsticks, said:

"Come, come, my dears; that kind of accomplishment will not help you to get husbands."

"I know it, uncle," responded one of the girls, "but it will help us to keep our husbands in order when we have them."—Ex.

MIRROR'S SUPERSTITIONS

Are you ever puzzled as to how to pack your hand mirror when you prepare your bag for a trip? A very wise precaution is to make a bag.

Use linen for the outside and embroider it in white or in colors. For the inside make a cotton flannel lining, and between the flannel put several layers of cotton padding. Baste the top of the bag with a casing and ribbon, and you have a convenient and practical bag for your mirror, which will insure you against seven years' bad luck.

nicely located in his new home he does not wish that any annexation committees shall have the power to force him into Los Angeles.

Mr. Shaull stated that he is entirely satisfied with Tropic's pure air. Tropic's pure water and the advantages afforded by the Glendale Union High School, in which he has a daughter.

He referred to the impurities of the Owens River water which would be forced upon Tropic if it is annexed to Los Angeles. He told of the numerous squirrels, toads and rabbits that fall into the channel and pollute the water.

Besides many of the streams that form this river flow through ranch stock yards. "Why put ourselves in a position that we must use such water when we can get pure water from the Verdugo hills?" Mr. Shaull asked.

He spoke in a very emphatic and convincing manner and made a strong plea for the people of Tropic to be left alone and not be interfered with by Los Angeles annexation commissions.

He said, "That city has nothing good for us except when we pay for what we get, and in case of annexation we will be paying for a bonded indebtedness for the city of Los Angeles and also paying for what we get in Tropic."

At this juncture the chairman stated that there had been considerable discussion about the effect that Tropic's annexation would have upon the pupils of Tropic being barred from the Glendale Union High School. The chairman said that members of the Board of Trustees of the Glendale Union High School were present and that Mr. Pulliam would read the decision of the board upon this question. Mr. Pulliam read the following statement:

"Glendale, Cal., August 27, 1917.

A student attending high school outside of the home high school district must have the consent of the Trustees in the district to which the student goes and from which he goes. If Tropic becomes a part of Los Angeles, her students cannot come to Glendale Union High School without the consent of the Los Angeles City School Authorities and the Glendale Union High School Trustees.

The amendments to the school law passed by the recent Legislature makes it possible for the attendance of Los Angeles students attending at Glendale to be counted for Glendale district, but the amount received from the State and County on the basis of attendance amounts to only about one half the cost of education of the student for the year. If Glendale high school accommodates Los Angeles students, she throws upon her district approximately one half the yearly cost per student.

We, as Trustees of the Glendale Union High School, do not favor putting this additional expense upon the district.

A. L. BRYANT, Pres.,

C. O. PULLIAM,
WM. F. RICE,
IRVING H. OLIVER, Secy.

The chairman next introduced W. C. Wattles, a civil engineer who is a resident of Tropic and who is well informed as to the modern methods of taking care of sewage. Mr. Wattles reported that for Tropic to make connections with the Los Angeles sewerage system would cost about $35,000 by the assessment plan. He explained the advantages of the use of septic tanks for taking care of sewage in cities of the population of Tropic. He said there is no well-grounded reason why Tropic can not take care of her own sewerage troubles.

Mr. Wattles said many of the streets in Tropic have the same names as Los Angeles streets, and after annexation the city council of Los Angeles will proceed at once to change the names of Tropic streets.

W. J. Clendenin, who is a heavy property owner in Tropic, said he was opposed to Tropic being annexed to Los Angeles for commercial reasons, and like the previous speakers thought annexation would tend to remove the municipal center of the community about 6 miles farther from Tropic, and this act in itself would tend to reduce property valuations.

The meeting closed by the audience singing The Star-Spangled Banner.

HIS TEMPERATURE

A Scottish doctor who was attending a laird had instructed the butler of the house in the art of taking and recording the master's temperature with a thermometer. In paying his usual morning call he said: "Well, John, I hope the laird's temperature is not any higher today?"

The man looked puzzled for a minute and then replied: "Weel, I was just wonderin' that mysel'. Ye see, he died at twal o'clock."

BE GOOD TO THE MESS SERGEANT

WASHINGTON, August 28.—Be good to the Mess Sergeant.

When you get to your cantonment camp to be made over into a soldier, be good to him, for he will be Lord High Commissioner of your stomach and everything that goes into it.

He will be the arbiter of your epicurean fate, and when, on entering the mess tent, you see him standing there in all his glory and a fresh white coat, tug the forelock and scrape the foot to him, for he is more absolutely dictator of your food than Herbert Hoover will ever be.

He is the chief cook. He buys every bite you eat. He writes the bill of fare and dictates how you shall be fed.

He sees that your vegetables are properly cleaned before they're cooked. He fights your battles with the butcher, to see that you get good meat. He haggles with the hucksters, to see that you get good green stuff.

He gives the first and second cook, the dining-room orderly and the three cook's police their orders. He runs the whole shebang for you and ninety-nine other rookies like you. He works hard for you, all day long and sometimes far into the night.

And so, if he checks up the plates and spoons and things and finds you've lost a couple, and charges you for them out of your pay, don't grumble. He has to do that.

Above all, don't get gay with him on any account. He is responsible for your orderly conduct in the mess hall. He's there to see that you arrive in the proper quiet and orderly manner, with your uniform neat and clean. He looks you over, and if your hands are soiled or your face unclean, or your hair not properly brushed, he sends you kiting back to fix yourself up, just like Mother used to do.

He sees that you sit properly at the table, quiet and orderly, until your food is passed to you. He won't stand for any restaurant rough stuff, if you are in the habit of pulling any. Loud talking and unnecessary noises will bring him down on you stiff-legged, kerplunk.

He'll see that you follow Hoover's advice about not wasting your food too. He's an apostle of the clean plate if there ever was one. If you take more on your plate than you can eat, he'll nab you. You're welcome to all you want to eat, but you're not welcome to any to waste. Food left on plates can never be used again. If it is left in the serving dish, it can be dished up in some other palatable form at another meal.

It takes so little to make a child happy, it is a pity grown people do not oftener remember it, and scatter little bits of pleasure before the small people, as they throw crumbs to the hungry sparrows.—Louise M. Alcott.

"Did Swift borrow money to buy an auto?"

"No; he is a higher financier. He bought an auto to borrow money."

This should be and is the grand central object of the United States in this war—to bring about a peace that will be lasting.
